SALES DOSSIER · THE LONG TABLE

One table, several parties, each with its own bill

At a communal table, two, three or four parties who don't know each other sit together. Each one is its own table (10.a, 10.b, 10.c) with its name, its order and its bill, and the table goes back on its own when they leave.

01 The idea, in four lines

At a long or communal table, parties who don't know each other sit together. With GV Split, each party is its own table: «Table 10.a», «10.b», «10.c», each with its name, its order and its bill. On the floor it's a single table; in the system it's as many as there are parties. And when a party leaves, its card goes back on its own.

> The real problem it solves
>
> The big table is one tangled bill. The server keeps track of who ordered what from memory, nobody knows which party had which bottle, and when it's time to pay, the usual argument starts.

From the waiter station

At the big table, the server taps «GV Split · open another party here». The system creates the new party's card, takes the server to it and asks for the party's name. From there they order and pay like at any other table.

From the till

The cashier does it from the table's card on her dashboard, with the same button. The new card shows up right next to the original table, in the first empty spot on the floor plan.

02 What you won't find anywhere else

✓ Each party, its own order and its own bill

What party b orders goes on 10.b and reaches the kitchen and the bar with that number. Each bill is paid separately and each party is cleared when it's done, without waiting for the others.

✓ You set the limits

In Settings → «Floor» you choose from how many seats a table can be split (4, 6, 8 or 10) and into how many parts at most (2, 3 or 4). A small table isn't split, and if you don't want it, you switch it off.

✓ The table goes back on its own

When the party is cleared, its card goes back and the floor plan is as it was. The original table isn't renamed: tickets, history and the usual QR codes don't change.

> What this module is NOT
>
> It isn't «Split the bill»: that button divides a table's payment; GV Split opens several bills from the start. Nor is it «Join tables», which merges several tables into one bill. If a party leaves owing money, its card doesn't go back on its own: it stays on the floor with the debt in plain sight. It's an add-on to GV Resto and goes on top of its fee (USD 69/mo).

03 Why GVenue, and not someone else

Every system in this business promises the same things. These six are the ones that, in practice, change how it feels to use it — and the ones you can check for yourself before you sign anything.

1 Truly modular: you pay only for what you use

GVenue isn't sold as a single license with fifty screens you'll never open. Each module is hired on its own and switched off on its own. If next month you don't use GV Split, you drop it and it stops being billed. There's no «plan» forcing you to pay for what you don't need to get to what you do.

2 Our prices are published

Go to gvenue.com.ar/armar, tick what you need and see the total, today, without leaving your phone number or booking a demo. In the survey we did of the Argentine market (July 2026), no competitor publishes its prices: you have to ask for a consultation to find out what it costs. We'd rather you do the math before you talk to us.

3 The venue's data belongs to the venue

Your customer base, your sales and your history are yours: you export them to Excel whenever you want, without asking permission or paying extra to «release» them. And if one day you want to move the whole system to a server of your own, that version exists — you're never locked in.

4 You talk directly to the developer

No help desk, no middlemen: you talk to the person who builds the system, who gets your request the first time and solves it in the code. A specific request that doesn't exist today is quoted by the hour and, if it helps other venues, it joins the catalog for everyone. Several of the features published today were born exactly like that, requested by a client in production.

5 Every module has its manual and its videos

We don't leave you with an afternoon of training and good luck. Every module has a PDF manual with real screenshots of the system, plus video tutorials — in Spanish, with the manuals being translated into English one by one — so when someone new joins the team they learn it on their own, during their shift, without you having to explain it all over again.

6 Anywhere in the world, in the language you need

It's a cloud system: it works from any country, on a PC, a tablet or a phone. Today it speaks Spanish and English, and another language can be added on request. And it's 100% configurable: hours, names, permissions, prices and screens adapt to the way each client works, without switching systems.

> And one that isn't a feature
>
> We publish our policies —what we do and don't do with your data and your money— at gvenue.com.ar/politicas. They're written to be read, not to cover ourselves. And we work under a quality management system: GVenue is going through internal audits of its Quality Management System, ahead of the external audit for its upcoming ISO 9001:2015 certification.

04 The money, crystal clear

> GVenue doesn't touch your business's money
>
> What you charge for the tables and bills on your floor goes straight into your register or your account: it doesn't go through any account of ours, carries no percentage and we don't bill it. It's the same rule as everywhere in GVenue: the money from the operation is 100% the venue's, or the business's that collects it. GV Split is paid with a flat monthly fee and nothing else — collect a little or a lot, the fee is the same.

How you get paid

That money goes wherever you say. The system records it so you know what's been collected and what's still pending:

1. At your counter
   What's charged at the venue goes into your register, with the methods you already use, and is recorded in the system.

2. Bank transfer to your account
   The customer transfers to your alias and it's marked as received. The money goes straight to your bank, with no intermediary.

The monthly fee

- It's billed one month in advance. You get a grace period of 10 to 15 days and staggered notices before any restriction — you'll never find the system switched off in the middle of an event over an invoice.
- The prices in this dossier are the published ones. Any special volume terms are agreed by contract, case by case: there's no automatic discount and no hidden price list.
- The fee is monthly, in US dollars, and it's invoiced in Argentine pesos at the exchange rate of the day.

05 The price

GV SPLIT · ONE TABLE, SEVERAL PARTIES

USD 9/mo

Open the same communal table more than once: on a big table (6 seats or more) 2, 3 or 4 different parties sit and each one becomes its own table (10.a, 10.b, 10.c) with its own name, order and bill. From the waiter station and from the till. You choose from how many seats and into how many parts.

* Dollar amounts are reference values for the fully functional system with onboarding done by the client. In Argentina, invoicing and payment are in pesos at the current reference dollar rate. If anything additional has to be configured or developed, the price is agreed separately. Licenses outside Argentina are billed in USD via USDT (reference values, billed in USDT for licenses outside Argentina).

06 Who made it?

GVenue is an Argentine system, made by Gozzi.dev: a software development studio based in Mar del Plata that works with each client directly.

Javier Gozzi · founder of GVenue and Gozzi.dev

He has been developing software since 2009. He was Technical Manager at El Divino Buenos Aires and Complejo Sobremonte (Mar del Plata), and then he wrote the system for the night: GVenue is designed from inside the club, with a packed door, a bar running out of stock and a register that doesn't add up. At GVenue he handles the product, the architecture, the backend, the infrastructure and the design.

Gozzi.dev's work

- GVenue · modular system for venues and events
- RespondIA · AI assistant to serve and sell on the web and WhatsApp
- Gozzi Hosting · Argentine hosting on its own infrastructure
- MG Muebles and Caruso Centro MDQ · commercial websites
- Alisaplack · drywall construction
- Porsche Design Tower Miami · the building's website, for Dezer Development

Why hire GVenue

1. Made by people who know the night
   It isn't generic software adapted to a nightclub: it was born from the technical management of nightlife venues, and that's why GV Split solves real problems of a Saturday in the small hours.

2. Direct support from the person who writes it
   No help desk, no tickets: you talk to the person who writes the code.

3. Made in Argentina, with published prices
   Prices in US dollars in plain sight at gvenue.com.ar/armar, and support from Argentina (UTC−3).

4. Truly modular
   You hire only what you use —tickets, door, bar, tables, courts, music— and each module is switched on or off separately.

5. 100% configurable, and custom-built if something's missing
   Hours, prices, rules and permissions are changed from the panel; what doesn't exist gets developed. Behind it there's a real studio, with a name and a face.

07 Next steps

You hire it yourself, in five minutes

Go to gvenue.com.ar/armar, tick GV Split and whatever else you need most, and you'll see the monthly total right there. That same screen generates the contract with the detail of what you hired — no fine print and no salesperson breathing down your neck.

And before the fee starts running, you get a 15-day trial to load your data and test it with your own information. If during that time you decide it's not for you, you haven't paid anything.
